1 BATTLEKART

With BattleKart, participants don't just play a video game, they are actually IN the game! Thanks to augmented reality, they sit on an electric go-kart zooming around a racetrack that features several different virtual circuits. They ride flat out and interact with both the scenery and other players. Each player rises to the challenge, develops their collaborative side, and learns how to handle the pressure, and so on.

Guaranteed thrills for a visit with the family, a strategy meeting, team building or an incentive trip – which the BattleKart team can also tailor for you.
